Jinni's Wish (Kingdom Series Book 4)

Synopsis

A long, long time ago there lived a man. A Jinni, who had one wish. To know love. But the woman he thought he knew betrayed him and the love he thought they shared. Tortured for his crimes, he was cast out of Kingdom, stripped of all his powers, left to languish in pain and solitude, until eventually he becomes nothing but a ghost...Paz Lopez is an artist with a dream. To buy a ridiculously large penthouse in the swankiest section of Chicago. But there's just one hitch, she has no man to share her dream with. A fateful visit to a carnival and Madam Pandora's tent sends Paz on a mission to find the love of her life before it's too late. But the Madam forgot to tell Paz one very important detail... to meet him, Paz will have to die first.

Customer Reviews

I have read the other three books in the Kingdom Series. Each one captivated me with its unique twist on "classic" fairy tales. I fell head over heels in love with each set of couples in the three books. Now, Ms. Hall has done it again. I won't summarize the book, as there is already a section dedicated to that. What I will do is tell you that this book went on a whole new level. A level that is inbetween the two worlds (Earth and Kingdom). A place that these two lost souls had to be on in order to meet. Jinni's pain brings him to a place where Paz must be on the edge of death to reach him. Paz and Jinni fall in love on a spiritual level; their story is beautiful and enthralling. I absolutely loved it and read it straight through in one day...I couldn't bear to walk away until I finished the story. I look forward to Hook's Pan and more from Ms. Hall. As always, a thrilling read that has me waiting for more.

Just like Marie Hall's other books I loved it!! Jinni's Wish is Tender, sweet, a little gloomy, and really makes you melt. It really does have a different vibe than the rest of the series but still fits it very well. Hall as always is very true to her characters and the story line shows it. The love scenes are not as intense as her other books and there isn't many, but they are tender and sweet and it sticks with you. Jinni really is a true gentleman and knows how to treat someone special. Jinni and Paz are both very vulnerable characters and you feel the sorrow that surrounds them and you start to see it disappear as their love grows stronger for each other. It is a truly moving love story that will make you believe that love can transcend death. You also get the pleasure of glimpsing Jinni's past. There are several chapters where Jinni is telling his heart wrenching past. It'll make you smile and melt when you read about his connection with a lonely little girl and it will make you cry at the betrayal and tragedy that it ends in. It in itself is a mini story with in this book. If you have not read anything from Marie Hall yet, I highly recommend that you do. It is well worth it. Her first book in the Kingdom series, "Her Mad Hatter," is free on right now, and even better you can get the first 3 books in the series all in one for a great price you certainly save and you get a little bit of extra material. Wish I had seen it first!!

This is my favorite of all of the Kingdom books so far! The fact that Jinni is little more than a ghost, how his romance is done on another plane of existence, and making love amid the stars....definitely "sigh-worthy". The choice of whether or not to use a body that is nothing like yours, and to have love transcend that form, for both people...very cool. Pax is a great heroine, and her character is written so well, you feel that you are experiencing her adventure right along with her. Jinni's story is awesome, and Pax's paintings...too bad they don't exist.

This is the 4th book of the Kingdom series, and is more character-driven than the others in the series, providing an interesting wrap-up to the story of the boys with a softly drawn romance. As with all of the books in this series, the author has pulled a female character from our time who is just slightly unsettled in her life, usually in terms of love. Paz is no different, a talented artist with a dream of a love that mirrors the one her brother has found, she is thrust into a story beyond all logical bounds that tests her willingness to believe love will find her. In beautifully detailed and poignant scenes, we travel the cosmos with Paz and Jinni as he uses the last of his life force to prove his love for her. With a touch of fairy godmother interference, and more than a touch of Danika's kick-butt attitude, she demands Jinni fight for love, for Paz and for the future that he believes is undeserved. Another winner in this series, the switch to a more character-driven plot suits the characters and their story perfectly. Jinni has been a recurrent character in the other 3 stories, but always on the sidelines without a major part. Providing a background for him, explaining his motivations and his oft bad attitude and snarky approach to the other boys in Danika's group of four, the story revealed in this book made all of his previous interactions make sense. A great wrap-up to a series that is certain to please many adults who enjoy romance and a touch of fairy tale. I received an eBook copy from the author as a beta read, and was not compensated for this review. All conclusions are my own responsibility.

When I first started reading this book, I left the following progress comment on Goodreads.com: 29% done..."So far this story is only ho-hum...if this story doesn't get out of "Blah" territory soon, this sucker will be lucky to get 3 stars..."I should of had more faith in Ms. Hall's story telling abilities. That was beautiful. This story started out so ho-hum (hence only 4 stars) that I almost quit. But then, like a night blooming jasmine flower unfurling under the moonlight, the story was filled with rich love as vast as the stars Jinni was born among. Bravo Ms. Hall, bravo.
