I'm not sure if I didn't have enough of an open mind, or if I didn't read enough of the book because I didn't care for it. I found it to be boring and unbelievable. A big focus of the book is chanting. One section suggests chanting for 2.5 hours each day. I try to keep an open mind on everything, but this was a little beyond for me.

I have searched for very long for a book like this one. It is full of truth, wisdom and most importantly, Love. The practices are simply to use love, forgiveness and compassion to transform any challenge in life, from health and financial issues to relationships. The practices are so simple and there are so many blessings in this book, it's quiet amazing.

This book and the teachings of Dr. & Master Sha are truly transformational. He shows us in simple easy to understand terms how to transform our lives. How to heal ourselves, change our relationships and even transform our finances. This is a message to every soul.

wow, this book is terrible. it's like listening to someone tell you about their other books 90% of the time and adding not one new piece of insight or information. I flipped through it and thought it was a joke or something, maybe I got the wrong book? Worthless, so I donated it to the homeless shelter.

Wonderful book. All his books are wonderful. I have learned much from them and enjoy the exercises in them. They make me feel great and offer me much hope for my healthy emotional, physical and spiritual self. A lot of people have made negative comments about Dr. Sha and saying he and his followers are a "cult" and rip people off for money, etc. I do not think that is the case and I am so thrilled to have Dr. Sha's books in my life to help me survive this lifetime I am in now and the future ones to come. I believe in God and Dr. Sha is specific when he says "God does the healing" and not himself. God will honor and help you in your life with your issues if you do the exercises since God DOES do the healing and only God and if you believe and trust in God, He will believe in the exercises you do from the book and He will honor your intent and work with them because He loves you that much. So trust in God even if you don't trust in Dr. Sha, because God is for real, and He does love you unconditionally and will honor your request when doing the exercises. So when you do the exercises, trust God to do for you what you need and want. God bless and good luck to you.

I have known throughout all life that the knowledge of karma and the ability to truly transform it in all aspects of life, is the key to true love, peace and harmony. Master Zhi Gang Sha brings forth incredible wisdom, knowledge and techniques that allow each soul to transform all aspects of life. Karma is something that follows us throughout all lifetimes, not only this lifetime. Every moment we can make the decision to bring forth light or bring forth what is not of the light. And in each of these decisions is a cause and effect of the decision that is made. If all souls can truly be conscious of all decisions, every thought, every word spoken and unspoken, every action that is taken, putting forth true love, forgiveness, compassion and light, life and all that is around each of us would be one of beauty. And that beauty would emanate to a planet that is struggling right now. All the pearls of wisdom that are within this book, if put into one's daily life, would change life as we know it. I am grateful for the teachings within this powerful book. I look forward to sharing it with all that I come into my daily life. Thank you Master Sha for your wisdom, for your love and for your unending heart and soul which continue to give endlessly.

Divine Transformation: The Divine Way to Self-Clear Karma ... is the reiteration of a single recipe involving prayer and chanting for pages and pages. There is no secret to clearing karma. It takes a lot of work, self-enlightenment, re-programming, and taking responsibility for your own acts. Prayers are good, but action is better. And one cannot just get into heaven by good works alone. So where does that leave us? The answer is not that easy. You've got to work on yourself with the help of a good guide. The guide can only point the way. You have to take the steps and experience the path in order to learn it. Once you learn it, you will be tested again, just to make sure you learned it. After that, that lesson is done; but other lessons will await you. Therefore, it is your responsibility now to maintain that new-found energy. Bit by bit, over time, you transform those dark pieces of self into light. And as you transform them, you draw to you more light energy and you spread this light and it grows exponentially and affects all things you do and all people that you meet. Then you come to this conclusion that there is no good karma and no bad karma. There only is karma. It is what you get when you are interacting with your environment, like a ball of wax that you hold and move in your hand. As a noted master once said, "the trick is not to get your fingerprints all over the ball (of wax)." Therefore, the trick is not to engender karma. You walk on the path and leave it as it was before you tread on it. You don't go around fixing things, especially others because when you do, you are taking away their lessons. So how do you know when to intervene and when not to? You hopefully know by studying your own intention. These cosmic/metaphysical things aren't revealed in this book.
