Customer Reviews

I was at first a little dissatisfied when I received this for a Christmas gift. I was looking for the new book just put out attributed to the 2011 Stanley Cup playoffs. But when I opened this and started going through it all my previous memories of the Bruins started coming through. I have followed the Bruins since the early 1970s. I was 12 when I remember Bobby Orr flying through the air to win the Stanley Cup in May 1970. Steve Babineau and Rob Simpson have put together a very memorable and excellent book that is a must for any Bruins fan, especially one that has followed them for around 40 years as I have. They have attributed entire chapters to such legends as Bobby Orr, Phil Esposito, John Bucyk, Terry O'Reilly, Ray Bourque and Cam Neely. And he also includes chapters on scorers, defensemen, "masked men", enforcers, grinders and "the Lunch Pail Gang". At the end of the individual chapters are included the statistics of the player/s during their time with the Bruins. The last 2 chapters are attributed to the Winter Classic against the Philadelphia Flyers and the 2011 playoff run. I haven't been able to finish it yet with all the business of the holiday season, but what I have gone through so far has been excellent. Most of the pictures are in vivid color all on glossy paper and it includes some rare photos, such as Bobby Orr and Brad Park together and many more, too many to list. There are pictures of players I forgot played for the Bruins. It is a definite must for any Big Bruins fan. It is an absolutely fantastic book.

Bought this for myself and it came super fast!! Great condition, great buy, great packaging. The book itself is just Awesome and has very memorable pictures. Like I was just there yesterday.. Simply awesome and well worth the money!!
